

Dr. R. S. Sharma PhD FNAMS, Head, Scientist & Senior Deputy Director General, Division of Reproductive Biology, Maternal and Child Health, Indian Council of Medical Research. Dr. Sharma is a Fellow of the National Academy of Medical Science, India, World Health Organization (WHO) and also a Rockefeller Biotechnology Career Fellow, USA. He has made a significant contribution in the area of EMF research in India. He has been Member Secretary – ICMR Experts committee on EMF research. Dr. Sharma is coordinating and conducting a hospital-based multi-disciplinary cohort study in Delhi & NCR to find out if there are adverse effects of microwave radiation emitted from cell phone on adult Indian population. This is a largest epidemiological study at national level conducted in India. Under this study, investigations are going on to examine whether use of cell phone is associated with neurological disorders (cognitive behavior, sleep related disorders, depression etc.), reproductive dysfunctions, cardiovascular disorders, otorhinolaryngology (ENT) disorders and promote cancer if any, in human volunteers. Dr. Sharma is a Member of: Expert Committee for installation of cell phone towers in Delhi, Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD), Govt. of Delhi, Delhi; Expert Committee to study the health effect of mobile technology, Director General of Health Services, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Govt. of India; Expert Committee for improving signal strength of mobile connection, AIIMS, New Delhi; Expert Committee appointed under the direction of the Honorable Prime Minister at Department of Science and Technology (DST), Govt. of India for advising the DST on scientific approach for resolving the issues relating to the likely harmful effects of Telecom Towers and the need for increasing Tele-density as a developmental requirement; Inter-Ministerial Committee constituted by the Ministry of Communication and IT, Govt. of India representing both Ministry of Health and Family Welfare and ICMR and International Advisory Committee on EMF, World Health Organization (WHO), Geneva. Dr. Sharma is an multi award winning leading scientist in India. His contribution to scientific literature includes around 133 papers in national and international journals and he has edited nineteen books/bulletins in the related area

